

Council Approves Plan For Debt Equalization Bonds; Aids Taxpayers

Mayor's Proposal To Reduce Tax Rate Next Year By Approximately $5 a Thousand Authorized by Common Council.

OTHER MATTERS

Carey of NRS Dissatisfied With Quarters In City Hall and Wants to Move.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman's plan to aid the taxpayers of Kingston by reducing the tax rate next year approximately $5 a thousand valuation by issuing debt equalization bonds met the unanimous approval of the common council Tuesday evening, and the aldermen adopted an ordinance authorizing the issuance of $220,000 in debt equalization bonds. The actual saving in the tax rate for next year will be $4.69 and in 1937 the saving will be $3.06 per thousand valuation.

When Mayor Heiselman assumed office in 1934 he found that a preceding administration had issued bonds falling due within the next three years. In fact that 53 per cent of the bonded indebtedness of the city fell due in the ensuing three years. Mayor Heiselman was the first mayor in the state of New York to take advantage of the new law adopted early this year by the state legislature which permitted municipalities with heavy bond issues falling due shortly to extend the payment of the bonds by issuing debt equalization bonds spread over a period of 10 years.

This new law was adopted to relieve taxpayers already heavily burdened by taxes by extending the bond paying period. The plan was drafted by Mayor C. J. Heiselman and approved by the state comptroller, who granted the city authority to issue the new debt equalization bonds.

NRS Wants to Move.

Joseph P. Carey of Albany, who is now district manager of the National Re-employment Service with headquarters on the third floor of the city hall, sent in a communication to the common council expressing dissatisfaction with the present quarters of the NRS on the ground that those who called at the office had to climb three flights of stairs, that it was located in a government building, that the room assigned was not large enough as he anticipated an increased staff of employees.

"Would it not be possible," he wrote, "to divert a small part of the savings anticipated under WPA program to a share basis with the county authorities?" He suggested that the city engage suitable quarters for himself and staff in the central part of the city and said that suitable quarters should be obtained at rent of about $50 a month, including heat.

The request was referred to the finance, ways and means committee of the council.

Want Street Repaired.

Residents of Schryver Court sent in a communication asking that that street be repaired. It was referred to the board of public works.

The Kingston Patrolmen's Association thanked the council for granting the use of the Municipal Auditorium for holding the annual sessions of the State Police Conference last month.

Appointments Made

Last month Joseph Armiger resigned as supervisor of the 11th Ward and last night his resignation was filed with the council as was the appointment of Robert F. Phinney as supervisor to fill the vacancy caused by Mr. Armiger's resignation.

Mayor Heiselman also filed the appointment of Edwin L. Wetterhahn as a member of the first board to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Mark Bacharach.

Mayor Heiselman also filed the list of election officials he has appointed. This complete list was published in Tuesday's issue of The Freeman.

The council accepted an easement from Mr. and Mrs. George J. Fischer to the city, granting permission for the city to enter upon their land for the purpose of constructing and maintaining a storm water drain.

Close East Chester St.

It is planned by the contractors building the East Chester street by-pass to 3-W to start pouring concrete, and the middle street will be laid first. For that reason an ordinance was adopted permitting the closing of certain parts of the street while the concrete was being laid.

Need Special Officer

Alderman Leary introduced a resolution that the special officer on duty at Washbrook Park and other city parks be retained and the position not abolished at the present time. Speaking on the resolution, which was referred to the Board of Public Works, the alderman said that in Washbrook Park the city now had a valuable tree nursery and that if a special officer was not kept on duty that this nursery might be considerably damaged.

Other Resolutions

Other resolutions introduced were: Alderman Leary—that first and third streets be properly graded, resurfaced and suitably repaved as a PWA project; that sewer

Italy Tells League Ethiopia Broke Pacts Assuring Peace

Standard Oil Action In Canceling Contract Aids U. S. Neutrality

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP).—The Standard Vacuum Oil Company's cancellation of a gigantic Ethiopian oil concession was believed today to have erased all chance of United States entanglement in the Italo-Ethiopian dispute.

Secretary Hull's diplomatic maneuver in persuading the oil firm to drop its plan for African exploitation was credited by informed observers with having clarified issues in the controversy between Italy and the Abyssinian empire. These observers also saw the move as a bold stroke destined to aid Great Britain and other European nations in their attempts to calm the troubled East African scene.

At Hyde Park, N. Y., President Roosevelt was said to be "delighted" at the turn of events "because he regarded the contract so upsetting to peace negotiations." The League of Nations met in a special session at Geneva today in an effort to avert war.

The question of another American oil and mineral concession remained to be settled. This is held by Leo Y. Chertok, New York broker, who said he received the concession as security for a loan of $1,000,000 to be raised by October 17.

The Standard Vacuum issue was settled after George S. Walden, chairman, and H. Dundas, vice president, called at the State Department for advice. They conferred with Wallace Murray, chief of the Near Eastern division, and told him that Francis Bickert, British promoter, had acted for them in negotiating the concession with Emperor Haile Selassie.

Later Secretary Hull issued a statement saying: "The officials were informed that the granting of this concession had been the cause of great embarrassment not only to this government but to other governments who are making strenuous and sincere efforts for the preservation of peace."

Walden and Dundas communicated with associates in New York and then informed Secretary Hull they had decided to accept his advice.

Ethiopia Nonplussed By Rejection of Land, Officials Are Silent

Addis Ababa, Sept. 4 (AP).—Members of the Ethiopian government appeared nonplussed today when informed that the Standard Vacuum Oil Company had withdrawn from its Ethiopian concessions or representations by the state department of the United States. They declined immediate comment.

Observers here assumed that the United States government wished to avoid being drawn into the already acutely delicate political situation which has arisen between this nation and Italy and that Washington wished to avoid compromising the American relationship with Italy.

Emperor Haile Selassie was not immediately informed of the cancellation. Ethiopian women armed with spears, daggers and rifles volunteered as warriors for Emperor Haile Selassie's army today.

Far more fanatical in their patriotism than the men and completely under the influence of the clergy, the women were not content to serve merely as nurses and munitions bearers. In past wars, in accordance with an old Ethiopian custom, wives of chiefs and nobles who went to the front accompanied them as female servants, their duty to "comfort" their warrior husbands.

Extraordinary precautions attended the arrival in Djibouti of 150 Sepoys (troops) of India, who are now traveling by train to Addis Ababa to reinforce the guard of the British legation. Although the ship arrived at Adisbeba in the morning, the troops were not landed until late evening to avoid their being photographed.

Enroute to Addis Ababa from Aden is Judge Davis, who will be the first British to preside at a murder trial in Ethiopia. The case involves Hindus and arose from a dispute over exchange operations during the recent slump of the dollar.

Scotchman Glenister, 31, a Dundee man, is accused of shooting and killing Nathubhai Virji Chundhal, another Dundee man, who was one of the richest men in Ethiopia. He also is charged with wounding Prabhakar Milling.

Rome, Sept. 4 (AP).—Italy today filed a memorandum with the League of Nations declaring Ethiopia by her conduct had "placed herself openly outside the League."

The memorandum said Ethiopia had rendered herself unworthy of the confidence accorded her when she was admitted to the League.

It said Ethiopia had not the right to invoke her right under the League's pact because "she has not responded to the conditions which the pact itself demanded as essential for membership." It charged Ethiopia with four specific kinds of violations of Italo-Ethiopian relationships.

"Nor are other members of the League bound to observe the rules of the covenant," the memorandum said, toward a member which had placed herself outside the pact through violation of engagements assumed.

The slavery issue was emphasized with the charge that the Ethiopian government not only countenanced the traffic in slaves but "directly participated in the slave trade, either through accepting slaves in payment of taxes or permitting regular troops to capture them."

The violations charged were:

"Ethiopian refusal to define frontiers with Italian colonies resulting in the consequently illegal occupation of Italian territories by Ethiopia;

"Continual offense against the in-

Tillson Woman Jumps From Car Which Falls 40 Feet, Is Demolished

Miss Sarah McKnight of Tillson, had a narrow escape from death, Tuesday afternoon, when her 1929 Chevrolet plunged over the 40-foot cliff bordering the Rondout creek near the Eddyville falls.

The car got out of control as she endeavored to turn it around on Church Hill, Miss McKnight told Deputy Sheriff Clayton Vredenburg, and ran over the cliff. She jumped out when it headed for the precipice. Nothing but a tangled mass of metal remains of the auto, which bumped against rocks and trees as it fell, landing with the top down and the wheels in the air.

Mechanics said after examining the car that the battery and tires were the only parts worth salvaging.

Confusion In Berlin.

Berlin, Sept. 4 (AP).—Confusion returned to Nazi relations with Catholics and Jews: Leader Hans Von Jagow told a meeting of 15,000 brown shirts: "We do not want persecution of the Jews, but we shall not permit a foreign race to live among our people." Von Jagow, who spoke at a closed meeting, asked the aid of the storm troops to "carry this problem to the last man of our people," by word of mouth and not individual acts. The Catholic question became vital again after a pause broken by last Sunday's pastoral letter, in which exhortations to "stand in the faith" with a police order in Hamburg forbidding the wearing of uniforms by Catholic youth groups.

New York, Sept. 4 (AP).—Coast Guard headquarters announced today that a 75-foot patrol boat from Base Four, New London, Conn., had put out to sea to aid a fishing schooner, believed to be the Edith P., reported aground off Long Point, Conn. The bureau of navigation, department of commerce, lists the "Edith P." in its record of United States motor vessels.

Searching Party From Miami Estimates Loss Of Life From 400 to 500

All Forces of the Government Join With Red Cross in Rushing Supplies to the Areas of Death and Destruction.

CAMPS DEMOLISHED

Two Government Camps Where War Veterans Were Engaged, Demolished.

(Copyright, 1935, By Associated Press) Miami, Sept. 4.—With rescuers estimating the death toll at between 400 and 500, part of the extent of devastation on the hurricane-swept Florida Keys was learned today from survivors and from expeditions of mercy and aid.

All of the forces of the government were joined with the Red Cross in rushing supplies to the areas of death and wreckage and in evacuating the debris-littered keys.

The heaviest loss of life, rescuers reported, was on upper and lower Matecumbe Keys and in the fishing villages along Plantation Key and Key Largo.

Two of the three government camps on the Matecumbe Keys, where war veterans are engaged in building a highway down the Keys to Key West, were reported completely demolished.

A rescue party out of Miami, led by Jack Combs, an undertaker assigned to organize identification of the dead, reported between 400 and 500 persons were killed in this area.

Many of those who died on Matecumbe Key were crushed in the collapse of the Snake Creek Hotel, which was being used as a hospital at the camp.

Among these was Dr. E. C. Main, medical director of the camp. The word of Dr. Main's death was brought to the mainland by Dr. Lasser Alexander, a medical examiner at the camp, who escaped death in the collapse of the hotel.

Describes Night of Terror

Graphically, Dr. Alexander described the Monday night of horror: "I was at Snake Creek Hotel, which was used as a hospital. This collapsed about 10 p. m., with many persons under the ruins. There were about 40 patients in this building, about half of them women and children. Out of this number, there were only seven men and three or four of the women saved."

"When the building toppled over, I was able to walk out through a hole in the wall into about three or four feet of water filled with floating timbers and debris. The wind was about 50 or 60 miles an hour and carried flying timbers that caused most of the casualties."

"When we found the water still rising, we made our way to the railroad track. We dug holes into the earth under the crosses there so we could protect our heads from the flying debris. This was the only way we could keep our brains from being crushed out. We stayed on the railroad track until 3 a. m. (Tuesday) as that was the only place above water."

"At daybreak Tuesday, we found a tank car full of water which offered refuge."

Combs was made for the ill and injured. Dr. Alexander said. In the afternoon, Buck Wright (one of the men at the camp, evidently) and several others who had row boats took Dr. Alexander and the other survivors across Snake Creek, separating Matecumbe Key from Little Key, and at a time from there they were brought to Miami in motor trucks.

From AP Correspondent.

As stated in press correspondent from Miami, who flew over the devastated area, reported that a train to the Yaca, in the vicinity of the hurricane, all the people who remained, were in a state of shock and confusion. The victims were in a state of shock and confusion. The victims were in a state of shock and confusion.

The hurricane, after raging across the Keys, swept to the north in the Gulf of Mexico and endangered cities on the Florida west coast. The full intensity of the hurricane in this area, was looked for around Cedar Key, a dot of land in the Gulf 30 miles north of St. Petersburg, connected with the mainland only by a narrow causeway.

The devastation was heaviest in the camps of the veterans, engaged in building a highway down the keys to Key West.

One of these camps was completely destroyed. Another was a mass of ruins. A rescue boat was sent down the keys Monday to bring the survivors, who were reported wrecked. The information came from a

Ulster 4-H Awards Won at the State Fair

Ulster county 4-H Club members received many awards for their outstanding exhibits at the New York State Fair, held in Syracuse last week. They were particularly outstanding in the poultry and clothing classes. Ulster county members won 17 awards in the 4-H poultry department while in clothing they won 16 awards. The many entries in these classes were largely from the 33 counties that employ full time club agents. Despite this keen competition the awards won by the local young people represent 24 per cent of all poultry awards and 12 per cent of all clothing awards.

As many people in Ulster county will want to see the ribbons and winning exhibits, the Wonderly Co., 314 Wall street, will display them in a show window Thursday, Friday and Saturday of this week. The exhibits on display will include only those that won an award at State Fair; three ensembles, four sleeveless dresses, a remodeled coat, a care of the wardrobe exhibit, five exhibits of baked food, one of canned fruit juices, two of honey and the winning exhibit of eggs. The poultry ribbons will also be on display.

James Hardenburgh, Lake Katrine, was the outstanding winner in poultry, with his White Plymouth Rock cockerel which won first in its class and was declared the champion cockerel of the American breeds. James also won a first award on his White Plymouth Rock pullet.

Janson Osterhout, Accord, was another first prize winner, his Jersey Giant cockerel took first in its class and his pullet of the same breed won second. The Barred Plymouth Rock cockerel and pullet which he exhibited took second and fourth respectively.

Pollet Winchester, Highland, was another member who received four awards. His New Hampshire Red cock won first, while his hen and pullet of the same breed took second and sixth respectively. He also exhibited a Barred Plymouth Rock cock that received a sixth award.

Wesley Smith, Saugerties, received a first award for his dozen of brown eggs and sixth on his Rhode Island Red pullet. Wesley won another first award with an outstanding exhibit of liquid honey on which he received a perfect score. His comb honey was placed third.

Ralph Tice, Spring Glen, received a first award, he won on his Barred Plymouth Rock hen.

In the White Leghorn classes, Franklin Kelder, Accord, received four awards with a second on his hen with an official 4-H Egg Laying Test Record, seventh on his cockerel, eighth on a pullet and ninth on a hen.

Others who received awards in poultry classes are Willard Shiel, Lake Katrine, fourth on Barred Plymouth Rock hen, third on White Leghorn cockerel and seventh on White Leghorn cock. Richard Martin, Highland, fifth on Barred Plymouth Rock hen. Rodney Hommel, Saugerties, second White Plymouth Rock hen. Robert Morehouse, Lake Katrine, fourth New Hampshire Red cockerel, fifth Rhode Island Red cock. Victor Mannay, East Chester street, Kingston, third New Hampshire Red pullet. George Schneider, St. Remy, fourth White Leghorn cock. Arnold Jacobsen, Stone Ridge, fifth White Leghorn hen and Carmine Sabino, Lake Katrine, ninth White Leghorn cockerel.

Naomi Limbacher, Sawkill, was the outstanding winner in the clothing classes with first on her school ensemble and second in the style show. Gertrude Schaffner, Lake Katrine, received a second on her wool "best" dress ensemble, and Ruth Hellen, Rifton, fifth on her informal party ensemble.

The Sleeveless Cotton School dress classes were divided by age. In the division for girls 11 to 12 years old, Marion Werner, Mt. Marion, received a first award and Helen Konluk, Flatbush, a third award. In the division for girls 13 to 15 years of age, Thelma Durling, South Flatbush, received a third award and Audrey Kidd, Rifton, a fourth award. A remodeled coat exhibited by Charlotte Edinger, Flatbush, received a fourth award and an exhibit of the work done in the Care of the Wardrobe gave Norma Bolos, of Lake Katrine, a second award. Norma also received a third award on her canned juice. In the baked foods division, Sarah Bolos, Lake Katrine, was an outstanding winner with a second on fruit nut loaf, third on her cup cakes, and fourth on her whole grain quick bread. Marjorie Morehouse, also of Lake Katrine, received two third awards, one on her fruit nut loaf and the other on her butter cake.

The four Ulster county members who went to State Fair as delegates to Camp Pyrrke, were Sarah Bolos, Lake Katrine, Naomi and Howard Limbacher, Sawkill, and Ward Tice, Spring Glen. The two young women received first ribbons for their participation in the foods demonstration contest held during the fair. The young men both participated in the vegetable judging, grading and identification contests and received ribbon awards for their outstanding showing. Naomi and Howard Limbacher both received awards for their outstanding showing in athletic events held in conjunction with the camp activities.

The entire delegation of four delegates from each of the 33 different counties were divided into four groups for camp activities. Howard Limbacher was president and Ward Tice, news reporter for one of these groups. Miss Devine, local leader of the Rock School 4-H Club of Rifton made the trip as chaperone for the 4-H delegation.

Other Ulster County 4-H members who attended the State Fair were: Dairy Judging Team—Bernard Kroos, Ellenville; DuBois Jenkins, New Paltz, and Lewis Bolos, Lake Katrine. Health delegates: Geraldine Ennist, Lake Katrine, and Victor Wood, South Flatbush. Style Revue: Ruth Hellen, Rifton, and Gertrude Schaffner, Lake Katrine. County club agent: Bernard Joy.

Friends of 4-H Club work and those who are interested in the practical things that these young people are doing are urged to see the exhibits which will be on display at the Wonderly store.

Woodstock Couple End Gypsy Journey

Woodstock, Sept. 4.—Edith and Dyrus Cook's Catskill gypsying trip, which included Edgewood, Tannersville, Clum Hill, Haines Falls, Twilight Park, North Lake Public Camp and Platte Clove Police Camp, terminated at their home in Woodstock over Labor Day week-end when Jackie, their donkey, brought the peddling cart in on his own power. The itinerants report their sale of etchings was light, returns from lecturing and their own wares slightly better only, but they are enthusiastic over their mode of travel. In the words of Mr. Cook, "the donkeying technique is now perfected, it's time to do something with it. We're all set now to turn the technique into a livelihood. I will count the weeks until I can get away again. Jackie is in entire agreement thereon. He was happy as a mouse in a cheese-bun, coming the back road from West Saugerties. At Rock City corners his ears drooped and he crept through the town at lack-lustre gait. Now that he's home he brays constantly. We are going south just as soon as we can make arrangements."

The Cooks and their novel outfit were a major attraction at the Haines Falls Library Fair and more than a mild sensation at North Lake Public Camp, where they spent most of the summer and contacted itinerant peddlers and camping tourists from half the states of the Union.

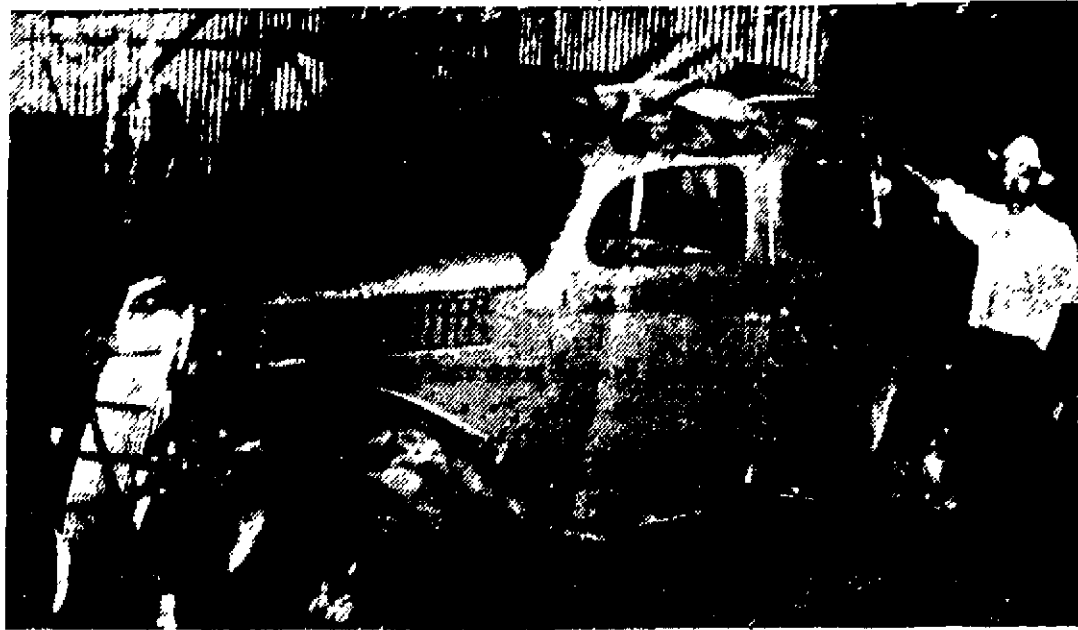

While Mrs. Cook, head of the "gypsy sales" department, scored heavily with the sophisticates of Twilight Park, Mr. Cook boasts his biggest triumph and thrill of the season in selling the New York City policemen, vacationing at Platt Clove Recreation Center, on a lecture based on his experiences as a Catskill guide.

Mr. Cook was obsessed by a big idea all summer, so he admits, and prospected everybody he met who would forsake their own pet ideas long enough to entertain his. "You see, the whole blazed outfit, idea and venture was top-heavy with baloney," explained Mr. Cook. "It lacked ballast. You might say we staged a parade with no circus to follow. Some folk took me for an ice cream man, others came out to buy fish. Little children begged their elders for dimes and begged themselves along the road beseeching rides."

Mr. and Mrs. Cook plan to ship Jackie and the cart to Florida about December 1. The Cooks report a better than fair tourist business throughout the Catskill area they covered. They were favorably impressed by the work being done by the CCC organization on Catskill trails and especially the Jarkey-male construction at North Lake Camp. The Cooks are convinced that a crying need of the Catskill region at the present time is the formation of a Catskill Trails Protective Association.

Whitely Lutheran Ladies Aid. The Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran Church, corner Spring and Home streets, will resume its activities after two months' vacation and meet Thursday, September 6, for the regular monthly meeting at 2:30 on the assembly terms.

SHOKAN

Shokan, Sept. 3.—R. J. Robeson of New York city spent the week-end with his grandchildren at the home of Mrs. Mabel Robeson on the upper Boiceville road.

A baseball game, held recently on the CCC camp diamond along Route 28 between the married men (foresters) and single men (enrollees), provided plenty of fun for both players and spectators. The score was 3-0 in favor of the woodmen bachelors.

The Ladies Aid Society of the Shokan Reformed Church will meet Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Frank Barringer, a former president of the society.

Mrs. James Carpenter and three children are remaining at their Ridge Road camp this week. The carpenters had as their guests over the week-end, Mrs. Eugene Loos of Inwood, Dr. Hughes of Valley Stream and Miss Katherine Geraghty of New York city.

Mr. and Mrs. Adam Kirk, Sr., of Newburgh, spent the week-end and holiday at their camp on the heights.

Sidney and Arthur Vanderbent of Mt. Vernon were week-end visitors to the Vanderbent country home on the mountain road.

Guests at the Longyear House Sunday included the following residents of Plushing: Mr. and Mrs. H. McKenna and son, Herbert, and Mr. and Mrs. Otto Briemeister. Miss Freida Briemeister is spending this week at Longyear's.

The drought remains unbroken at this writing. The light rain which fell Monday was of no benefit to crops and relieved the impending water supply shortage not at all.

A moving picture show held in the recreation hall at Camp S-53 recently drew a crowd of 105 men which was the best attendance to date. The feature picture was "Chaating Blondes", a very satisfactory 7-reel film. The program also included an Aesop 2-reel animated comedy, 2 reels of scenes in Turkey, 1 roll of Goofy Games and a comedy travelogue. M. R. Frohlich, the camp educational adviser, was at the door accepting cash, checks or "on the cuff".

A local marriage of September 3, 1934, was that of Elijah Everett to Della Giles, both of Olive, by the Rev. John H. Fyfe, pastor of the Shokan M. E. Church.

Religious services were held in the Olive-Hurley Baptist Church Sunday.

Albert Wallerstein of New York city has been spending a vacation at his summer home in the village center.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Secor and daughter, Gladys, of Kingston, visited their bungalow over the week-end.

The Shokan School (Olive district No. 3) opens Tuesday with Mrs. E. C. Burdick as teacher. Mrs. Burdick has taught the local school for the past four years.

There was the usual late-season automobile travel on Route 28 on the reservoir boulevards Sunday and Monday. The exodus of city people from the mountains began early Sunday morning and kept up pretty steadily throughout the following day.

The boarding season has been good here and it is hoped by many that the autumn tourist business will prove more satisfactory than has been the case during the past several years.

About $100 was cleared by the Ladies Aid Society of the Reformed Church at its fair and supper last month.

James Carpenter of Richmond Hill spent the week-end here and as usual caught a black bass or two from his rowboat on the waters of the east basin of the Ashokan reservoir.

The weeds and brush in the Ashokan yards of the New York Central Railroad have been cut, thus enhancing the general appearance of the village center. A number of large hydrangea bushes, some of which were removed from the old villages, are now in full bloom in the attractive front yards of several Ashokan residents.

The Misses Celi and Edna Harmon of Bellaire spent the week-end at the Shokan House on the corner. City people fairly swamped the Shokan House over the holiday, both of the main building and annex being filled to capacity.

Mr. and Mrs. James Roche and daughter returned to Brookline Sunday after a pleasant sojourn in the village center. Mrs. Roche before her marriage was Miss May Allen.

Mrs. W. J. Rooley and son, Thillie, returned to New York city Saturday after having been the guests for two weeks of Mrs. Rooley's sister, Mrs. D. T. Reardon.

Sept. 2, 1934, the marriage took place at the West Hurley M. E. Church parsonage of Richard Howard Hurley to Jane Mae of Olive. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. H. C. Earl, and witnesses to the superals were John S. Everett and Henry W. Smith.

Recently, the baseball team of the local CCC camp defeated the team of Camp S-57 of Tannersville. This was a seven-inning game and the score was 2-1. The exciting diamond tussle was arranged by Walter D. Caver, chaplain of District 6.

New York city young men spending the week-end and holiday in the village included the following: John Commorata, Tom Cuciaro, Charles Baatz and Frank Commorata.

Daniel Sampson of the heights sector has cut the hay on the E. C. Boston country place. Mr. Sampson also harvested oats and will sow rye on the Orval Fortson farm.

Reminiscent of the old tannery and sawmill boom days in the Catskills is a hemlock log with about 75 annual rings on the mill-yard of C. Duluff along route 28. The log will be sawed up into 2x8 planking.

The grounds of C. G. Fuller's Mountain Laurel Lodge, along the north boulevard, have been improved by an extensive brush-cutting job.

Some farmers report a considerable loss to potatoes by grubs. These pests leave a spud looking something not unlike a grotesquely carved nutmeg and equally as worthless. The farmers probably figure that with potatoes selling for half a cent a pound in the stores, the grubs may as well continue their work of cutting down harvesting costs on this staple crop.

Fines for Swearing Built Church

La Guayra, Venezuela, is one of the most novel and interesting ports. It is the port for Caracas, the capital of the country, which is only seven miles away in direct line but must be approached by a serpentine railroad 23 miles in length, which climbs the foothills of the Andes and the eastern slopes of the great mountain chain itself. Caracas, at a height of 3,000 feet, has a climate that is springlike all times. The city is an ancient one for the Western world, dating from 1567. In the picturesque port of La Guayra is a church that has no counterpart elsewhere. It was built from the proceeds of fines imposed for swearing and is referred to by the inhabitants as the "Iglesia de la Church of the Most Holy Damn." It is a sumptuous church, into the construction of which has gone many a contribution from inhabitants who were willing to pay for their swear-

Children Present Drama at Woodstock

Woodstock, Sept. 4.—In a charming natural out-of-doors theatre on the old Bob Chandler property in Zena over 70 people viewed "The Imperial Procession" presented by the Children's Theatre, under the direction of Clemence Randolph. The play, written and planned by the children themselves, had a very successful performance, judging by the enthusiasm of young and old in the audience. Only a group of amateurs, such young amateurs as they could have given so spontaneous and unaffected a production. The domineering, and wrongfully crowned Emperor was brought to an ignominious end and all difficulties straightened out in the dramatic action so romantically and humorously developed by the group of young players, some of whom show signs of real talent.

This is not the first time juvenile amateur performances have been held in Woodstock. Other notable productions have been given by Agnes Schleicher and W. O. Thompson. It is hoped that more of this talent will be brought to the audiences of Woodstock. Old barns and rustic out-door settings of the neighborhood are many and have proved highly adaptable to such usage.

"The Imperial Procession" was staged at the foot of an old quarried ledge which offered the equivalent of orchestra, balcony and even box seats. In addition to the two-act play several recitations and dances were performed by members of the cast.

The cast of characters of the "Imperial Procession" was as follows: Bandit chief's son, Elizabeth Pollett; Bandit chief, Judy Seaton; Counselor, Gloria Calamar; Empress, Janice Calamar; The Beggar, H. Ohta; Emperor Jester, Don Randolph; The Emperor's executioner, Richard Goldsmith; The Abbess, Phyllis Goldsmith; Princess Sarana, Genevieve Whitely; Princess Dark Eyes, Baird Randolph; Princess All Beas, Mary Wilson; Lady in waiting to the Empress, Nellie Robinson.

The time—Long ago. The scene—Principal street of the capital of a far-away place. The Emperor's Palace to the left, the Woods where hide the bandits, to the right.

Special performances were given by Sandra Roon, Barbara and Elizabeth Pollett, Baird and Don Randolph, Phyllis Goldsmith, Janice and Gloria Calamar, Joan Goetz and Nellie Robinson.

The harmless feather duster on occasions is a source of trouble in the telephone business.

Not infrequently some zealous cleaning woman at work in an office flips a row of switchboard keys accidentally with her feather duster. That automatically signals our central office, and the lines become "out of order" until the keys are restored to their proper position.

You'd be surprised, too, how often home telephone users cause "false alarms" by allowing a book or some other object to hold the receiver off the hook.

It's a good idea to keep such objects away from the instrument, so that you will be sure not to miss any incoming calls. New York Telephone Company.

AGROUND WITH 229 PASSENGERS OFF FLORIDA COAST

The coastal steamship Dixie with 229 passengers and 110 crew stuck fast to Carysport reef, 40 miles south of Miami, Fla., pounded by mountainous waves swept by hurricane winds and in danger of breakup. (Associated Press Photo)

Fear Terrific Death Toll In Florida Storm

Coast Guard plane which surveyed the area early today.

The message read:

"Veteran camp No. one completely demolished. Train in Upper Matecumbe Key. Engine is only part left standing on track. All cars overturned. All buildings wrecked. Camp five, on lower Matecumbe Key, only lumber wreckage."

Survivors at Camp No. one, the construction site farthest to the north, said the train had passed through there, intending to pick up the veterans there on the return trip.

High Walls of Water

Walls of water as high as 15 feet poured continuously over these keys for hours as the hurricane raged up from the Atlantic, across the tip of Florida and into the gulf.

Once in the gulf, the path of the storm was northerly. It centered this morning to the west of Clearwater and gales were expected by coast towns.

Everywhere, the hurricane warning was out. Two square flags, red with black centers, one flown above the other. Ships were kept to port.

A message from St. Petersburg, the first since the storm swerved up the west Florida coast, said the tide was rising rapidly and the seas were heavy. Property damage was reported only as "considerable." No loss of life was reported there.

From St. Petersburg came the further word:

"Have no knowledge of conditions at Clearwater and Tarpon Springs."

The searching party out of Miami was led by Jack Combs, an undertaker. The 400-to-500 estimate was for the Keys area only.

Veterans Tell of Terror

Refugees from the veterans camp on unprotected Matecumbe Key told of the force of the hurricane. All of the buildings but one were crushed like small boxes as the wall of water surged over the thin strip of land.

Persons were washed into the sea and those who reached a safe spot were powerless to help them. A mother and her 6-year-old daughter were rescued after clinging to wreckage all night, their clothing ripped to shreds by the wind and water.

William Cawthorn, one of the veterans who survived the disaster on Matecumbe Key, said 80 persons lost their lives.

The computing of the death list was all the more difficult inasmuch as groups of veterans were scattered all about the camps, some from Matecumbe working at Rock Harbor when the hurricane struck.

100 Dead on Key

At Tavernier, on Plantation Key, adjoining Matecumbe, a Red Cross report said at least 100 were killed. Seventy-five or more were reported dead in the first dispatch from Rock Harbor.

With the hurricane shifting its fury to the west coast of Florida, full intensity was looked for in the neighborhood of Cedar Key, 30 miles or so north of St. Petersburg.

The 1,200 residents of Cedar Key are connected with the mainland by only a narrow causeway.

Most of the buildings in Cedar Key are old and flimsy, of wooden construction.

The schoolhouse and other substantial buildings were opened early today. Some 300 persons filled the schoolhouse as soon as it was opened. Evacuation of the city started as soon as word of the approaching hurricane reached the city. The first reports said 50 persons had evacuated the place.

The force of the hurricane, apparently, had abated from the intensity of the hours of horror Monday night and early Tuesday on the Keys below Miami.

Would Prefer Machine Guns

One war veteran, describing the night, said he would rather face the fire of machine guns than another tropical storm.

Most of the veterans on the Keys participated in the bonus march to Washington.

The full aid of the government was ordered mobilized for the devastated regions. The first calls were for medical supplies, food, water and clothing. Then there was the need for means of evacuation.

The Navy, the Coast Guard, the American Legion, the Red Cross and all other available forces rounded up boats and trucks. Highway and railroad travel into the region, however, was extremely hazardous.

The call of President Roosevelt, for the government to give every aid possible, was followed with the action of Gov. Dave Sholtz in sending a company of National Guardsmen into the Keys to aid survivors and police the region.

Veterans in Hospitals

Veterans who reached Miami last night from one of the veterans camps, that closest to Miami, were placed in hospitals to recover from minor injuries and the shock of exposure.

Many of them said the loss of life was made all the heavier because of the lack of substantial shelter, the failure to heed the hurricane warnings and the delay in dispatching the relief train.

Among the survivors, the fear was felt all aboard the relief train were lost when it turned over in a wash-out. Some of the veterans held out little hope for their "buddies" in the southernmost camps.

Life Boats Battle Heavy Seas To Dixie

turbulent waves, reported the sea was moderating slightly.

The latest message, from El Occidente to the Morgan Line offices said:

"Strong southerly winds. Rough sea continues; moderating slightly. Dixie advises no immediate danger. Standing by, awaiting instructions from Dixie."

The master of the Dixie reported earlier that his ship was "resting easy," despite the terrific pounding it was getting 60 miles south of here.

"Leak developed in one fuel tank," said his message. "Oil leaking out. Ship resting easy."

The Dixie stuck fast when it was swept onto the reef by the tropical hurricane Monday night.

Standing by and waiting for the sea to moderate enough to permit the launching of life-boats were the Platona, El Occidente, Gatun, Limon and Reaper—three fruit boats, one passenger vessel, one tanker.

Captain E. W. Sundstrom, commodore of the Morgan Line and master of the grounded line, decided late last night not to risk transfer of the passengers until daylight.

Morale is High

He reported that their morale was high.

Water was leaking only into the ship's double bottom and the tone of the messages conveying this information indicated there was little immediate alarm.

In a dispatch to the Associated Press, W. H. Depperman, a passenger aboard the S. S. Platona, described the rescue ships as a blinking semicircle around the Dixie early today.

He said the liner's passengers could be seen along the reef, peering out into the storm's inky blackness.

Depperman said Captain McRae of the Platona paced the hurricane deck, sleepless, and the crew stood by the lifeboats. He assumed the situation was likewise on the other rescue vessels keeping the vigil.

Latest reports indicated the storm was moving westward away from the vicinity of the Dixie.

Some of the Dixie's passengers were reported by Captain Sundstrom to have been bruised, and some crew members suffered minor injuries. He did not give any details.

To anxious relatives calling the offices of the Morgan line in New York officials were able to give Captain Sundstrom's message: "All is well."

The arrival of additional vessels continued as the morning wore on. Coast guard cutters were on the scene. So was the El Mundo, a Morgan ship. Captain Sundstrom reported the coming of the Warbler, salvage boat.

"Warbler arrived 7 a. m.," he wirelessly to Morgan line offices in New York. "Number two hold making water at 10 a. m. Still too rough to transfer."

Tropical Radio reported that at 11:15 a. m. (daylight time) transfer of the Dixie's passengers had not yet begun.

POLICE CALLED TO FOXHALL AVENUE, ARREST MR. PROSS.

Last night the police department received a call from Foxhall avenue which resulted in the arrest of Albert Pross of 104 Second avenue, on a charge of public intoxication. Mr. Pross' car was also found on Foxhall avenue, near Broadway, with a flat tire. This morning Judge Culliton fined Pross $5. Miss Marie Pfrommer of Wurts street, arrested on a charge of parking on John street, received a suspended sentence. Louis Davis of Hunter street was fined $2 for public intoxication.

There is a temporary lack of these varieties which have been properly inspected and passed since many growers have neglected to make application for the necessary inspection which export of fruit requires. So far as the pack of local growers is concerned this item can and is being complied with. Applications for an inspection of fruit as to spray residue by the state can be made and this can be made at the Farm Bureau office.

Orders for 15,000 bushels of apples for export were received by the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers Association one day last week and a lack of growers who had received the proper inspection for spray residue made it difficult to secure this amount on short notice, however, applications have been made for inspection by members and Mr. Harland, sales agent for the Association at Highland, will give any member the necessary information as to where and how to make application for this inspection.

Growers feel that if the fruit growers of the county will do their part quickly to secure necessary inspection so that these larger export orders may be filled now that it will not only net the grower who sell for export more money but will also relieve the local markets to some extent. One large grower states that from $50,000 to $100,000 additional can be secured for the local apple crop if the export market is not to be lost.

Not only have the orders received by the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers Association, secured through Mr. Harland, the sales agent, been large but the orders filled for export are cash to the grower. Additional orders have been received again this week for fruit for export.

This is the first season that the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers Association has functioned and thus far it has been a very decided success, presenting a market through the sales agent which many farmers had not enjoyed prior to the establishment of the market at Highland.

That this increase in export of apples will affect local fruit growers is shown by the fact that only last week and again this week application was made to the Mid-Hudson Fruit Growers Association for apples for export. Buyers visited the distribution plant of the Association at the Harland center in Highland where Mr. Harland is acting as sales agent for the members of the Association and requested shipments for a large quantity of apples. There is a definite market for export of McIntosh, Rhode Island Greenings and Wealthy apples and the price offered is from 25 per cent to 40 per cent more than the local quotations according to the sales agents.

There is a temporary lack of these varieties which have been properly inspected and passed since many growers have neglected to make application for the necessary inspection which export of fruit requires. So far as the pack of local growers is concerned this item can and is being complied with. Applications for an inspection of fruit as to spray residue by the state can be made and this can be made at the Farm Bureau office.

As the fate of the Morgan liner, "Dixie" hung in the balance, the coast guard cutter, Carrabassett (top), strived to reach its side through heavy seas off Miami, Fla. It was believed the liner's passengers faced the possibility of having to be rescued with a breeches buoy strung from the cutter. The commander of the stricken vessel, Capt. Einar Sundstrom, is shown (right), while (below) are passengers. Left to right: Grace Walbancke, Rose Salinger and Helen Linton, all of Brooklyn, N. Y.; and Eleanor Shields, of near Philadelphia. ## Incineration Plant Accepted by City

Is Now in Operation—Householders Requested to Separate Ashes and Glass from Burnable Materials—Operation of Plant to Improve Sanitary Conditions.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman on behalf of the city has officially accepted the new incinerating plant on Wilbur avenue which was constructed as a work relief project by the local ERB. The incinerator is now being operated with slow fire until it is properly seasoned.

Householders in the city are urged to cooperate with the city authorities by separating materials to be carted away, placing ashes and glass in one container and in another container placing old papers, tin cans and other burnable materials. The ashes and glass will be taken to the city dumps while the contents of the other containers will be taken to the incinerator and burned.

The operation of the incinerator will make possible the disposal of all burnable materials without placing them on the city dumps as in the past, while the ashes and glass that is placed on the dumps may be used for filling and grading purposes.

Householders in cooperating by placing ashes and glass in one container and burnable materials in another will assist materially in the efforts made to improve conditions in the locality of the city dumps.

Supervisors to Meet

One of the matters to come before the board of supervisors at a special session Thursday evening at 8:30 o'clock will be probable action on the Works Progress Administration projects. At a recent meeting of the town supervisors, officials from the WPA were present and outlined the plan.

MODES of the moment

Jewelry follows
the Renaissance
Liana Morwin

Latest costume jewelry for the coming season indicates strong approval for large and ornamental pieces, many showing the influence of the Renaissance period in design and finish. Much antique gold and silver, used, set in luxurious fashions with various semi-precious stones—many in cabochon effect.

Very ornate Florentine filigree work in especially interesting pieces also appears, using such stones as amethyst, sapphires, emeralds, topaz, turquoise and onyx.

Great interest is shown in new necklaces, too, particularly the large, medallion ornaments that suspend from a gold chain. These are of antique finish and lavishly set with sparkling colored stones.

Matching sets of two, three or four pieces with the same design and treatment featured throughout is another style note of importance, as illustrated in the sketch above. This Renaissance set features three pieces—necklace, buckle and bracelet of antique gold set with amethyst stones.

For the necklace, a fine gold chain encircles the neck and at front is suspended, in plaque like fashion, an elaborately designed medallion. The large, matching buckle in oblong shape may be used for belt or neckline decoration and the very attractive hinged bracelet that opens wide, completes this new costume jewelry set.

Pattern No. 1746-B

Clever Seaming Contributes to the Chic of This Day-Time Frock

The silhouette has become definitely fuller and wider. But there is a catch to that! No obvious fullness should mar the harmony of line, and that means that you simply cannot insert a piece of material, or a bunch of gathers, and be in the mode. The creation of the wide effect is a matter of careful cut, an almost mathematical problem of adding more material, without subtracting from the symmetry and smoothness of contour.

In today's design the blouse is very soft in appearance, a few discreet gathers at the neck help to gain that effect, and as you see there are more at the waistline, to make it slightly full. Sleeves are in one with the side portions of the blouse, and they are rather wide, the inserted piece from wrist to elbow shaping them into the modified bishop sleeve, which is much used. The long pointed collar is another detail of the new season.

Barbara Bell Pattern No. 1746-B is designed in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 40 and 42. Corresponding bust measurements 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 18 (34) requires about 4 1/2 yards of 39-inch material and 3/4 yard of 39-inch for contrasting collar. The belt may be a purchased one.

Custom to Cut Off Ears

Before the Statute of the Jurists was passed in 1275, which forbade Jews to practice moneylending and levied a tax upon them, it was the custom in England to cut off Jews' ears and nail them to trees. There is little doubt that the fungus called the Jew's Ear, which resembles a human ear and grows on the trunk of the elder tree, owes its name to this historical fact. Some authorities affirm, however, that it is a contraction for Judas ear, as it is popularly believed that it was on an elder tree that Judas hanged himself. Answers Magazine.

MAURICE RISELEY RESIDENCE DAMAGED AT WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, Sept. 4.—The Maurice Riskey home was damaged by fire Friday to the estimated extent of about $700. It is supposed that an oil stove in the kitchen exploded during the few minutes when Mrs. Riskey went out of the house; when she returned she found the kitchen completely in flames. Her call for help brought neighbors who finally succeeded in controlling the flames with buckets of water and fire extinguishers.

In response to a telephoned alarm, both the large and the small engines were brought on the scene but it was only necessary to use a small amount of water from the "booster" tank. Water pumped by the large engine from the quarry at the rear of the house was in readiness if needed but the house was directed away from the house so that no water damage was done. ## Daughters of America Convention Banquet Attended by About 400

The 39th annual session of the Daughters of America was opened last evening in this city with the 13th "get acquainted" banquet held at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Nearly 400 were present in both dining rooms, the sun parlor and the hotel lounge. All of the rooms were connected with microphones in order that the speeches of the evening might be heard by all guests.

Mrs. Mildred Burgher, Vanderlyn Council of Kingston, acted as toastmaster and introduced as the first speaker of the evening Mayor Conrad J. Heiseleman, who extended a cordial welcome to the convention members from the city of Kingston. He also presented the "key" of the city to the delegates.

Mayor Heiseleman assured the ladies that while he had had pleasure in welcoming a great many conventions to our city, the acme of pleasure on such occasions had been reserved for the happy occasion of welcoming the Daughters of America to Kingston.

He complimented highly the local committee on the perfection of their arrangements which have been in progress of completion since in the spring. The perfection of the program was in great measure due to them.

Mrs. Ethel K. Hornbeck, state councillor of Port Jervis, followed Mayor Heiseleman and gave expression to the appreciation of the delegation over its welcome to Kingston and the hospitality extended to them. Mrs. Hornbeck particularly expressed appreciation of the city's co-operation in presenting the badges for the delegates and furnishing buses from both the Stuyvesant and Governor Clinton Hotel to the Auditorium for the use of the delegates staying at both hotels.

Mrs. Ollie W. Towles, national councillor of Nashville, Tenn., was another to express gratitude for the welcome extended by the city to the convention officers and delegates.

Mrs. Towles bespoke close adherence to the ideals of the Daughters of America, which organization is of national scope, and said that she was looking forward with pleasure to the meeting with the New York state group here in Kingston.

Mrs. Burgher of Kingston, toastmaster, introduced the national vice councillor, Anna B. Harrison, of St. Louis; national secretary, Max C. Roth of Youngstown, Ohio; and secretary of the national home board of trustees, Hattie E. Van Buren, of Ossining, N. Y.

During the serving of the elaborate banquet, Paul Zucca led the ladies in group singing of popular and old time songs. After the speaking program Zucca's orchestra furnished delightful music for dancing.

The moths ate up my davenport, the mice ate up my cheese; the pocket gophers ate my corn, the moles ate up my peas; the worms ate all my apples up, the rabbits got my greens; My diet's very simple now, it's mostly pork and beans.

It seems to be a habit to believe that as long as we are kicking businessmen in the pants we are reforming something.

Mother (severely)—Grace, that young Mr. Egbert is boasting that he stole a dozen kisses from you last night.

Daughter (sharply)—It isn't true, mother dear, I gave them all to him and he gave me most of them back.

No wonder a girl nowadays feels in the seventh heaven, observes Amos Tash, when she marries. She has probably been engaged about six times before.

Professor—What would happen if an irresistible force met an immovable body?
Farm Student—If it was a mule it would kick itself.

Judge—You say you committed all these robberies, and yet you never had anybody help you? Why didn't you have a partner?
Culprit—I wasn't sure he would be honest, Judge.

The boys who believe the world owes them a living have quit writing chain letters and are now hunting four leaf clovers.

Pat—Why is a kiss like the three graces?
Friend—Its faith to a girl; hope to a young woman and charity to an old maid.

A radical is one who says: "You built it; now get out of the way and let a real smart fellow run it."

Insurance Agent (to prospect)—Did you ever have appendicitis?
Prospect—Well, I was operated on, but I have never been quite certain whether it was appendicitis or professional curiosity.

Bill—What struck you most on your travels?
Sam—Other people's umbrellas.

The reason the kind-hearted husband doesn't give his wife all the money she wants is because there isn't that much in the world.

Friend—My husband is so careless of his appearance. It seems like he just can't keep buttons on his clothes.

Kingston Woman—Are you sure his carelessness? Perhaps they are—well sewed on improperly.

Friend—Maybe you're right. He is terribly careless with his sewing.

The next thing we must figure out is how this share-the-wealth plan is going to affect the fellow with a two-pants suit.

Daughter—He is saving $15 a week from his salary, Daddy dear.

Daddy—But how long can he live on credit?

In the matter of jokes, observes Junius, the radio comedians seem to believe that what was good enough for our grandfathers is good enough for us.

Friend—George must be very bad on that plane when it was raided?

Local Man—Yes, he has a severe case of nurlism.

Judge—What were you doing in that place when it was raided?

Locksmith—I was making a bolt for the door.

It may be impossible to change human nature, but it is possible to change human behavior.

HOLLYWOOD SIGHTS &amp; SOUNDS

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—It won't be long before American opera singers will quit the once popular custom of adopting foreign-sounding names. American singers are not only using their own names but some of them even boast of training in American schools.

Glady's Swarthout, the pretty and slim operatic star who hits screen stardom for the first time in "Rose of the Rancho," considers it a sure sign of this country's cultural growth that so many Americans have reached top rank among singers in the last ten years.

Miss Swarthout, from Deep Water, Mo., attributes this native "musical renaissance" to the fact that Americans are being given greater musical opportunities, and as these develop there are singers who develop themselves to take advantage of the opportunities.

An indication "American singers," she points out, "have created their own school, a certain indication that we are growing up culturally. No longer must we depend upon Europeans to provide our music. The majority of first-rate singers in America today are Americans, and in some instances they are recognized as the best in the world."

Miss Swarthout is American-trained entirely. She thinks American schools are the equal of any in Europe, where once all would-be singers perforce sojourned for musical education.

An imposing list "In the last years of Gatti-Casazza's regime at the Metropolitan, 60 per cent of the singers were American-born and American-trained, myself among them."

And from American schools, she points out to clinch the argument, have come such singers as John Charles Thomas, Richard Crooks, Richard Bonelli, Lawrence Tibbett, Helen Jepson, Grace Moore, Queenie Mario, Rose Bampton, Leonora Corra, and many others. Some of these "felt the necessity of adopting names with a foreign flavor," she says, but they are all Americans.

Swarthout is the singer's real name. She is of Holland Dutch descent and her family is musical, although she is the only singer. Her sister, Roma, is a pianist while she has two cousins who are deans of music at universities, and her husband, Frank Chapman, also is a well-known singer.

Lawes Advises Pitts To Stay Off Stage

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, who joined the Albany Senators of the International Baseball League after his release from Sing Sing prison, was believed ready today to reject an offer to appear in vaudeville with Al Mamau.

Mamau, ballad singing manager of the Senators, attempted last night to persuade Warden Lewis E. Lawes of Sing Sing to sanction the contract but the warden refused to approve.

While Pitts was not available for comment, it was said by friends he plans to "do whatever Warden Lawes thinks best."

During his conference with Mamau, Warden Lawes emphasized that he was considering the matter only "to give advice" and the decision on Pitts' stage appearance must come from the State Parole Board. If the board approves, then it is up to Pitts.

"If Alabama could sing or dance," Lawes said, "I wouldn't have the slightest objection to his going on the stage. But I think it would be a mistake to capitalize this way on the unfortunate episode in his life and the subsequent fortunate break."

Lawes advised Pitts to accept "one of the half dozen jobs now open to him" or play basketball or football.

Surveys of the Long Island oyster beds have just been completed by the Bureau of Marine Fisheries of the Department's Division of Fish and Game in conjunction with the Middle-Atlantic Fisheries Association. It was found that throughout this summer weather conditions in the oyster producing areas have been ideal for the development and growth of the bivalves. There has been just the right amount of rainfall to temper the salinity of the waters and to carry into the bays the proper quantities of minerals which enable the oysters to grow to the proper size and succulence.

Today

Broadway: "The Call of the Wild." Never has the screen given such pictorial effects as in this extravagant production of Darryl Zanuck's under the United Artists' banner. The scenes are beautiful, laid as they are against the background of the far north country, and Jack London's world famous tale seems rather tiny as the story book characters parade before the majesty of nature. If you remember the book, it tells of Buck, a dog who is pulled between the love of his master and the lure of a wild dog park in the frozen north. The screen drama has been altered for box office purposes into a romantic story of two men and a woman seeking adventure in the days of the gold rush. It's a cleverly told story, bristling with thrills and excitement, and Clark Gable makes a handsome and masculine hero in a screen performance which proves him to be an engaging and talented actor. Loretta Young and Jack Oakie are also in featured roles along with a giant cast of supporting players. This talkie has a universal appeal and is a show for the whole family to enjoy.

Orpheum: "Little Men." Louisa M. Alcott's lesser known story of boyhood becomes first class screen entertainment with Ralph Morgan in the role of Professor Bhaer, Erin O'Brien-More as Aunt Jo and Frankie Morris as Dan, the boy hero of the story. "Western Justice," a wild tale of barking dogs and savage men is the second feature with Bob Steele riding to victory over friend and foe alike.

Kinastor: "Lady Tabbs" and "College Scandal." The first feature at the Kinastor is one of the most laughable comedy attractions the local screen has shown in a blue moon. It tells, roughly speaking, of the rise of a woman from the lower depths of the social order to the very top of snobbery. Alice Brady, in the title role, is brilliant and the work of Alan Mowbray, Anita Louise, Douglass Montgomery and Jane Clayworth is helpful. This play offers the most laughs and the finest satire one could ask for. "College Scandal" tells of murder on a college campus with you tracking down the scheming brain of the killer. Arline Judge, Wendy Barrie, Elliott Nugent and Kent Taylor head the cast. The action is both rapid and rapid in this one.

Tomorrow: Broadway: "Calm Yourself." This one tries to be original, melodramatic and exciting all over the place and succeeds in being fair to middling entertainment, never quite certain of its destination but sure of its footing as a member of the thriller class. It tells of Robert Young, cast as an adventurous ad-man, who thinks up a new type of business that offers unusual services to a select clientele. Before the show finishes in a blast of excitement, Mr. Young becomes sadly tangled in a kidnapping and sundry other unhappy circumstances. Madge Evans, Hardie Albright, Ralph Morgan, Nat Pendleton and Betty Furness are all featured.

Orpheum: "Woman Unafraid" and "Crimson Trail." An all star cast cavorts in the first offering at the Orpheum, a story of sacrifice coupled with romance. Skeets Gallagher offers a few choice comedy moments and Lona Andre and Lucile Gleason are also featured. "Crimson Trail" is another western horse opera wherein Buck Jones is starred to advantage. It has punch, literally and physically, a neat plot and more than enough excitement. The youngsters will discover this especially distasteful.

Kinastor: Same.

LIKE FATHER—LIKE SON

It's an old story that boys like to emulate their fathers and in the matter of clothes this is especially true. Nearly all of the fashions shown below have their adult counterparts in grown up wardrobes, and it's a safe rule that what's smart on Dad is going to look just as well on Junior. There's hardly a masculine fashion existing today that isn't available in boys' models. A few of the smarter interpretations are shown here and they ought to warm the heart of any youngster. Most of these are based on authentic university styles established at Eastern colleges.

STRIKE RIOT TAKES TOLL OF 1 DEAD, 15 WOUNDED

Driving through a picket line in this car to take his children to work, R. Wilson Smith encountered a strike riot at Pelzer, S. C., that ended after a young mother was killed, a worker was critically wounded and 14 others were hurt. An onlooker stood by as Wilson, stopped by the riot, posed for this picture. Note the shattered glass where bullet struck. (Associated Press Photo)

Avenues of Fashion with Esquire

It betrays no secret that astute men of affairs, like the two sketched above in the act of closing an important deal, deliberate and choose their clothes for the occasion with similar zeal and acumen. Now that vacation days are fading in the haze of an Indian summer sun, the attention of all men is being directed to Fall wardrobes. A great deal more can be said about a man's town outfit than that it is good. It can be distinguished. A man can be well groomed without being overdressed. An outfit that will accomplish just this is recommended below.

HIGH ROLLED

The specific details of a new three-button single-breasted jacket add much to its interest this autumn. The fish mouth effect of the notch is achieved by the collar width being perceptibly wider. The high roll effect where front meets lapel over the top button is a characteristic. The jacket itself is natural in its lines, avoiding exaggeration of shoulder chest or waist. Pockets without flaps are an appropriate detail, and either center or side vents are present. The model itself is well adapted to the clear cut worsted favored for this season, and is shown here in an oversquared sharkskin worsted. Esquire suggests in the following, some well-selected, appropriate companion apparel.

WIDESPREAD

Worsted type fabrics require more formal looking accessories than the rougher, surfaced tweeds or chevrons so well adapted for country and campus clothing. The laundered collar to match shirt is much favored for this reason. In a simple, even striped pattern with a collar model that leaves a wide space at the knot opening, it is the perfect example of an appropriate shirt.

HANDSOME AND BOLD

Neckwear in simple checked patterns is always the essence of good taste. Current fashion calls for a somewhat bolder interpretation of this favorite in a definite hound's tooth check.

KNOT ON THE CUFF

Whether more men are again wearing double shirt cuffs which require new and smarter links or vice-

Trapped on a ledge high up a mountain inside in northern British Columbia, Paul Cardoni, a young surveyor, was in danger of death today.

Rescue efforts were halted by darkness late last night. Rescuers planned another attempt to reach him today.

One thousand feet up the mountain and 500 feet from the summit, young Cardoni was held prisoner on a narrow ledge, unable to sit or lie down in a bitter cold northern night with snow swirling around the mountain peak.

Member of a far north mining camp survey party, Cardoni found himself in a position where it was difficult to return down the precipitous slope and moved upward 1,000 feet, hoping to get over the top to the mountain and descend by another route. He reached the ledge and found he could neither ascend nor descend.

A wireless report from the mining camp told of his plight. The camp is located in a remote section of British Columbia, in the Fort St. James district more than 200 miles northwest of Prince George, B. C.

versa, a gold knot design is the new note for this useful bit of jewelry.

Incidentally, this was an old Victorian favorite when cuffs were a "must."

SCRATCHES BACK

The Homburg shaped hats (really named for the town in which it was first made) to be smart as well as authentic, calls for a tapering crown and a well-defined curl to the sides of the brim. Scratch finish felt returns to favor in this shape in shades of brown, green and medium grey.

LAST NOT THE LEAST

A smart appearing shoe need sacrifice none of the all-important matter of comfort. The rather straight English custom last in a quarter brogue blucher model with perforated toe cap is a combination of all shoe essentials.

CLOCK FANCIERS

For those who prefer unpatterned hose, English ribbed 6x3 hosiery, in solid colors, avoids the over-plain look of flat hosiery. An embroidered clock on the hose gives a much needed touch of color at the ankle.

HOLD-UP

Trousers must be cut and proportioned properly for appearance and comfort. With a trouser of correct length the proper break above the shoe is only possible when braces are worn.

To Arrange Chest Clinics in County

The local health officers have requested Katherine Murphy, Ulster county public health nurse, to assist in the work of arranging five consultation chest clinics at convenient places in the county.

Details regarding the time and place of these clinics will be announced later and physicians will be given admission cards for patients whom they wish to refer.

The state department of health has agreed to furnish the services of two expert examiners and an X-ray machine with operator. Although there has been an encouraging decline in the tuberculosis death rate, the disease still assumes an important place in the economic and social life of our people. Like other diseases, its diagnosis is necessary before treatment may be instituted. The earlier it is diagnosed, the greater the chance for recovery. Symptoms referable to the chest may be caused by diseases other than tuberculosis. The cause of such symptoms should be determined. In many cases this cannot be done without the assistance of the X-ray. It may be just as important to know that you are not suffering from tuberculosis as it is to know you have the disease.

Roosevelt Says Big Point in His Program Is Repair, Not Change

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP).—Repair—not change—is the philosophy of government enunciated by President Roosevelt in an informal talk with home folks as he looked ahead to the 1936 campaign.

The significant utterance was made by Mr. Roosevelt last night in a chat at a meeting of Dutchess county Democrats before the modest farm house of Moses Smith, on the family estate.

He called present repairing of the White House a "parable" to government and life.

He has been attacked by opposition political leaders on a suggestion that people decide on broader constitutional authority to deal with international, social economic problems.

"We are not changing," the President told neighbors. "We are just making the White House better and safer. But it is the same old White House. It will always continue the same beautiful architecture and simplicity. We are constantly repairing and I think constantly bettering."

"That is why I am not much worried about the future of the United States."

With this doctrine before the nation, he awaited Postmaster General Farley, the chairman of the Democratic national committee, today in a meeting offering opportunity for discussion of the intensive campaign that now appears certain in the coming election.

It will be the first meeting between the two since Farley's return from a vacation trip to Hawaii. Undoubtedly an intimate report will be presented by Farley on conditions he observed in crossing the country. Details of Mr. Roosevelt's forthcoming trip to the Pacific coast can be discussed.

In the quiet of the old family home overlooking the Hudson river, he is clearing up the last of the bills passed by the recent Congress which he described last night as "perhaps one of the most important in 150 years."

With rain drops dripping on his bare head from the sheltering trees in the yard of Moses Smith's home, the President in a "pinch hit" talk for Mrs. Roosevelt, who had gone to the funeral of Mrs. Ickes, unfolded his thoughts of government and the future.

"Every once in a while we have to repair things," he remarked, "whether it be a human structure of a man-made government. . . . This summer we are rewriting the White House to make it more safe. But it will be the same old White House of the people of the last 130 years.

"This is the parable. We are not changing. We are just making it better and safer. It will be the same old White House no matter who is president for the next four years, for the next eight years or 100 years from now."

Swift Action Made On Federal Projects

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP).—A rush reminiscent of CWA's drive to employ 4,000,000 men in 30 days was on today in the control room of the administration's present effort to end the dole.

W. M. Cotton, chief of the project control division, announced that WPA applications had jumped to around $100,000,000 a day since President Roosevelt set September 12 as the deadline for getting them to the capital. A "big day" formerly was $33,000,000.

To handle these and a stream of proposals from PWA and other government agencies, Cotton said he had geared his organization to pass up 4,000 applications a day between now and the deadline.

Under the President's plan, his advisory allotment board is to take final action on allocation of funds September 17.

ITALY AND ETHIOPIA: Story Of A Long-Brewing Conflict No. 1

Italy entered the Ethiopian picture in 1882 when the Italian government bought the small port of Assab from an Italian shipping line which had acquired it in 1870 as a coaling station. In February, 1885, the Europeans took over Massua from Egypt. The Ethiopians resented this, claiming Massua had been guaranteed to them as a free port. Italian efforts to advance inland were checked in January, 1887, when 500 Italians were ambushed and wiped out at Dogali. After a year of negotiations Italy withdrew most of her troops from her colony, which had been named Eritrea.

Menelik II proclaimed himself emperor and king of kings of Ethiopia in March, 1889, a few days after the death in battle of King John who, with the encouragement of Great Britain had made himself master of the northern provinces and met death beating back an invasion by the derelicts of the Egyptian Sudan. One of Menelik's first acts, taken May 2, 1889, was to sign a treaty with Italy. As a consequence Italy occupied Asmara, now capital of Eritrea, and received Emperor Menelik's nephew, Ras Makonnen, father of the present emperor, as Ethiopian envoy to Rome.

For three years relations between the two countries were quiet, but then Menelik grew suspicious because the Italians seemed too friendly with the "rases," or local rulers, of the northern districts over which John had held sway. In February, 1893, Menelik proclaimed that the treaty of May, 1889, was at an end. He claimed that the Italian and Amharic versions of the pact differed, the former providing that Ethiopia must use Italy as a means of communicating with other powers whereas the Amharic text made this step optional. An outbreak of hostilities followed.

The war lasted three years. At first the Italians pushed ahead but, as the Ethiopians rallied to a national cause, the Europeans were forced back. Additional troops were sent by Rome and on March 1, 1896, an expedition of 15,000 attacked Menelik, who, with 30,000 men, held a strong position near Adowa. One of the four Italian brigades pushed too far forward, was cut off and decimated. As the other brigades came up, they were successively surrounded and cut to pieces. The Italians lost 10,600. The Ethiopians acknowledged 3,000 casualties but experts put them at 17,000.

Adowa ended the war of 1893-6. Italian reinforcements, sent to avenge the defeat, found that Menelik had retired and had no thought of following up his victory. So on October 26, 1896, a treaty of peace was signed at Addis Ababa. It annulled the 1889 treaty, recognized the absolute independence of Ethiopia and provided for further pacts defining the frontiers of Eritrea and of Italian Somaliland. This outcome attracted world-wide attention to Menelik. Missions were sent from Russia, Great Britain and France. Menelik consolidated his realm and Ethiopia became a world nation.

Youth Taken Back To Margaretville

John Holmes, 18, of Clark's Mills, Oneida county, who was arrested in Kingston for the theft of a Chevrolet automobile at Margaretville, was taken back to Margaretville Tuesday afternoon by Trooper McGarvey. Holmes was picked up at Broadway and Henry street by Officers Burger and Hendry after they had been notified by teletype that a Chevrolet car bearing a dealer license had been missed in the mountain village. Holmes was held for the Troopers.

The lad admitted he had been in trouble in Utica before and told Trooper McGarvey that he had been sentenced to a penitentiary. His story of why he was driving the car through Kingston was a remarkable one. Holmes said he had been in Margaretville when someone asked him to ride to Kingston with him and drive the car back to Margaretville. He said he complied with that request and that was why he was in possession of the car. Only a few minutes prior to leaving Margaretville with the car Holmes had accosted Trooper McGarvey and asked where he might obtain a night's lodging. The Trooper informed the lad but apparently instead of seeking the lodging he boarded the car and drove to Kingston where he was picked up at a Broadway gas station where he had stopped.

Brooklyn Men Object Of Search by Police

Ralph Marshall, 37, of 248 78th street, Brooklyn, who has been staying at Daniel Rooney's at West Hurley, has been reported missing. The sheriff and police officials have been asked to locate him. Marshall left the Rooney place Tuesday about 11:15 o'clock to go to the post office to mail post cards and when he failed to return a search was instituted. It has been learned that he was seen on the Kingston-West Hurley road about 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Marshall weighs about 165 pounds and is 5 feet 4 inches tall. He has shaggy eyebrows, blue eyes, black hair and was wearing a black suit when he disappeared. He wore no hat and his shirt was blue, his shoes, low cut, were black. At the time he disappeared he had a boat ticket in his pocket for return to New York today but since he was seen after boat time on the road it is known he did not board the boat Tuesday. He is described as hesitating before answering questions and frequently holds his head while waiting.

The officials are checking to ascertain whether he may have caught a ride to Brooklyn late Tuesday afternoon and also will check the boat today to learn whether he boards the boat.

New Training Courses At Youths' Congress

Among the new innovations to be found at this year's Camp Congress of Youth Council to be held at the local Y. M. C. A. Camp at Glencliff, from Friday to Sunday, September 13 to 15, will be the "Leadership Training Courses" offered under competent teachers to prepare young people for active leadership in their respective societies.

"Our Work," a course in practical program methods in the youth group, will be instructed by Mrs. J. C. Eason of Saugerties. Mrs. Eason is well prepared to teach this group as she has completed the course of study of the International Council of religious Education and the course with the Religious Education Conference of Northfield Seminary. Mrs. Eason expects with the use of dramatization to prepare delegates to supervise the program of the youth group.

"Our Play," under the leadership of Bernard Joy, director of the 4-H Club program activities of Ulster county, will teach the use of games in the social program of the youth group showing too the interesting use of music. Mr. Joy through his local work has gained much experience in this field of endeavor, and anticipates an enjoyable course with the Youth Council.

"Our Worship" with the Rev. R. S. Gaenzle, pastor of the English Lutheran Church of the Redeemer, as instructor, is primarily for those young people who are in charge of the worship service and program of the youth group. The Rev. Mr. Gaenzle is particularly interested in the worship of young people, and his experience in this activity should prove valuable to the delegates.

Another innovation found on the congress program is the "Youth Church" service to be conducted at 11 on Sunday morning at which time the delegates will prepare the program for the service, and will conduct it themselves. Young people will take the various parts of the service, and one of them will deliver the morning message. Other delegates will furnish the orchestra music, and a choir. This service is being looked forward to with much interest by the committee in charge of the program.

The congress is open to all young people in Ulster county between the ages of 15 and 24. Registrations must be filed with the Secretary of Youth Council, care of Y. M. C. A., Kingston.

All Relief Agencies To Be Curtailed Soon

Hyde Park, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—President Roosevelt today ordered all emergency federal agencies under control of the budget bureau for curtailment of personnel with the exception of those agencies the emergency has passed.

By executive order Mr. Roosevelt placed the following seven government units under the budget for control of administrative expenditures:

The Agriculture Adjustment Administration; the Federal Emergency Relief Administration; the National Recovery Administration; the Tennessee Valley Authority; the Public Works Administration; the Commodities Credit Corporation, and the Railroad Coordinator.

This move completed the placing under budget control all emergency agencies outside regular executive departments.

Asked if he regarded the emergency as over, the President replied that he thought the peak was passed.

He added that as fast as the various credit agencies have done their emergency aid he hoped for consolidation.

He mentioned that the Home Owners Loan Corporation already has virtually completed its action on loan applications, and was now going into the management stage of seeing that loans are paid and supervising property.

Asked for an appraisal of the accomplishments of the emergency agencies, the President cited that million home owners had been saved from foreclosure; a million farmers had been saved their homesteads and 7,000 banks had been saved from going under.

He said these were just three examples.

County Highway Projects Are Begun

Work has been commenced on practically all of the county highway projects which are on the program for construction this season and a considerable number of men have been given employment. Some time was required to place the machinery in condition to go to work and this has now been completed and the actual construction has commenced. In the town of Kingston the matter of rights of way are delaying work. All of the work being done is continuations of former projects.

The work of cutting brush along the county roads is still in progress and where completed has eliminated numerous dangerous conditions which were caused by the tall brush along narrow and twisting rights of way. In many instances brush two years old has been removed improving visibility and eliminating the possibility of accidents.

Minor patching of deep holes is also in progress throughout the county but this work is being confined to the more serious situations because of the limited funds available for this kind of maintenance work.

Sir Malcolm Campbell Credited With Speed Over 300 Miles an Hour

Salt Lake City, Sept. 4 (AP).—Sir Malcolm Campbell and his Bluebird were poised today for a triumphant return to England with a record—finally computed correctly—of 242.5 miles an hour on land.

A "silly mistake"—the words were "human"—kept the "human" for hours in the belief he had won the Bonneville Salt Flats race. He had dreamed of a mile in 12 seconds.

The fact he had bettered his previous record of 276.816 miles an hour by more than 23 miles, as finally figured by the timers, would only be a wry face and a decoration he would have to "go through it all again" Thursday.

It was far into the night before the officials of the American Automobile Association sent word hurriedly to the intrepid driver, with apologies, that they had made a mistake.

The announcement brought from Campbell the declaration he was "delighted" but that the news was "in the form of an anti-climax."

He altered previous plans to try to win tomorrow and ordered the six-cylinder 2,500-horsepower Bluebird prepared for shipment. He will embark for New York September 12, with the old lady, as he calls his racer, aboard the same ship, the Augusta.

The error came on the return run. After Campbell had flashed northward across the gleaming salt plain at 204.311 miles an hour and brought his huge racer to a safe stop despite a blown front tire.

The timers first computed his outburst mile at 295.566 miles an hour, for an average of 299.875 miles. A later check of the electrically marked tape showed the return mile was run in 12.08 seconds, instead of the 12.18 seconds—or 298.13 miles an hour—originally announced, which accounted for the increased average finally credited.

Campbell indicated in an interview tonight he intends to let his new car stand at least until someone else beats it. Then he may try again.

"Someone can build a better machine and go faster," he said. "Whatever you can do, I can do, and whatever I can do, someone else can better."

Judge Tracy Holding Special Term Here

Judge Tracy of Columbia county is holding the regular special term of county court in Kingston today due to the unfortunate accident which County Judge Frederick G. Traver met with on Sunday evening.

An X-ray of the injury shows that Judge Traver's right arm has been severely crushed just below the shoulder, making the injury a very painful one. The injury was suffered when the judge tripped over a wire fence near his home on 10th street while exercising his dog.

Judge Traver had but recently returned from a vacation, very much improved in health.

Arrangements will probably be completed with Judge Tracy for continuing of the trial term of county court on next Monday. Since there is a grand jury in attendance it will be necessary to convene court and begin its duties. The trial term may be adjourned for a time until Judge Traver is able to go on the job. There are 32 civil cases on September trial calendar.

Henry Bernstein Found Dead Tuesday

Expire in Room at Stuyvesant Hotel From Heart Attack—Bellboy, Calling Him for Supper, Finds Body on Bed.

Henry Bernstein, one of Kingston's most prominent citizens, who for many years was connected with brewing industries here, was found dead in his room at the Stuyvesant Hotel, Tuesday evening. He was 81 years old. Coroner N. H. Lasher of Saugerties said a heart attack was the cause of death.

Sam Camarata, a bellboy at the hotel, where Mr. Bernstein had resided for a number of years, found his body when he called him for supper. Camarata knocked on the door and when Mr. Bernstein did not respond, entered the room and saw him lying on the bed as if he were unconscious.

The management notified Dr. E. F. Sibley, who pronounced Mr. Bernstein dead. Coroner Lasher was called and after his examination issued a certificate stating that a heart attack caused death. The body was turned over to A. Carr & Son, undertakers of 1 Pearl street.

Mr. Bernstein spent 25 years with the former Hauck Brewing Company as a collector and prior to working for this firm was in the employ of the Peter Barmann Brewing Company, serving in the same capacity. He was interested in the old Colonial baseball team and served as secretary-treasurer of the club for a season.

Surviving Mr. Bernstein are one brother, Jacob A., of Kingston, and a sister, Miss Flora Bernstein of New York city. The late Sam Bernstein, Sr., was his brother.

He was active fraternally in the Kingston Lodge of Elks, No. 550, and Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., the Masonic Chapter, and the Shrine. In 1917 he was exalted ruler of the Elks. Tonight at 8 o'clock the Elks will hold ritualistic services at the Carr undertaking parlors. The funeral will be held from there Thursday morning at 11:30. Burial will be in Wiltwyck cemetery.

Air Experts' Opinion On Post-Rogers Crash

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP).—Air experts figured today that failure of its motor before it had gained sufficient flying speed to offset a nose-heaviness may have sent the plane of Will Rogers and Wiley Post on its death dive into an Alaskan lagoon.

The preliminary report of Eugene Vidal, air commerce director, disclosed the probable poor balance in the ship because of the substitution of pontoons for the regular landing gear at Seattle.

Vidal said Post had discussed with Joe Crosson, Alaskan pilot who flew the bodies of the famed comedian and flier back to the United States, the seeming nose-heaviness and his suspicion that the pontoons were responsible.

Post said that because of this condition Rogers always sat far back in the plane on takeoffs and all luggage was kept aft to balance the ship.

Envisioning the accident from information gathered from Crosson, Eskimos who saw the crash and others, Vidal said:

"It is reasonable to believe that Post was banking the plane to the right while still in a slight climb. The combination of the plane in a banking turn, with still low flying speed immediately following the takeoff and climb, the motor failure and the airplane's nose-heaviness, could result in such a stall."

Willett Overbaugh to Have Radio Audition Saturday Afternoon

Winner of Audition at American Legion Amateur Show Last Month to Have Audition for Ray Perkins Radio Hour—If Successful Will Likely be on Sunday Program.

Willett Overbaugh of Saugerties, winner of the audition at the American Legion Show put on recently under the auspices of the American Legion Drum Corps in the Kingston Municipal Auditorium, has received word to report for an audition on the Ray Perkins radio hour on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the Columbia Broadcasting System playhouse in New York city. If Mr. Overbaugh's audition is successful he will undoubtedly appear on the Sunday night program over the Columbia network, commencing at 6 o'clock.

So successful was the amateur show held by the Legion that it was decided to put on another show at the Auditorium on the evening of September 27. Plans are now being completed for this amateur contest and it is expected that at least twenty acts will appear on the program. The winner of the audition that evening will also receive an audition on the Ray Perkins amateur hour.

The proceeds from the coming show are for the benefit of the American Legion Welfare Fund.

State Health Unit Says Danger Is Past

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP).—School officials throughout New York state today had the assurance of the State Health Department that danger of a serious outbreak of infantile paralysis was past and "it was safe for the schools to be opened."

Dr. George H. Ramsey, head of the Department of Communicable Diseases of the Department of Health, said a threatened "epidemic" of infantile paralysis had failed to materialize.

Although there was a slight increase in the number of new cases reported in the state last week, Dr. Ramsey said the fight against the spread of the disease was "holding its own" and an abatement in the number of cases was expected by the middle of the month.

In New York city Dr. William H. Best, acting commissioner of health, said New York city schools may be opened September 9, the scheduled date, without fear of an epidemic of the disease.

During the past four days 147 new cases were reported, he said, bringing the total for the year to 1,280 cases.

Chancey Appears Winner. Tampa, Fla., Sept. 4 (AP).—Mayor R. E. L. Chancey today appeared to have won another term of office in an election marked by bloodshed in spite of military supervision. Complete unofficial returns from 21 of the city's precincts showed a total of 7,456 votes for Chancey who had the support of the city election machine, to 3,397 for D. B. McKay, former mayor who was favored by the county organization. Election officials said there would be some delay in completing returns since several ballot boxes were impounded in the jail with poll officials from six precincts who were charged with ballot box stuffing. Both the city and county factions had hired hundreds of election "watchers" and armed them with guns and clubs.

City League Series Game Off Until Friday Evening, 5:45

The second City League series game, which was scheduled for this evening at the Athletic Field, was called off this morning on account of threatening weather. Both Manager Andy Gilday and Manager Ralph DeCleco of Berard's A. C. after a conference, decided that it is not baseball weather and they deferred the game until Friday evening at 5:45 sharp at the Athletic Field.

In other years City League series games were played on Saturday afternoon, but on account of Hercules not being able to have their full strength on the field this Saturday both managers agreed that it would be much better for the fans if both teams had their strongest lineups. It was real sportsmanship on the part of Manager DeCleco, who already has one win to his credit. It also was decided that some of the fans would be unable to see the game on Saturday and it would give them an opportunity of seeing what a series game looks like.

Manager George Walker, field boss of the Hercules, is grooming Jimmy Martin for the starting pitching Friday evening. He also will have Eddie Scherer and Bob McGuire ready to go to the mound if needed. Al Short will do the catching.

Berard's haven't decided who they will start in the box. They may give "Spot" Cullen, who distinguished himself recently by holding the hard-hitting Forstis to four hits, but all indications point towards Julius Chick, their ace. George Zadany will be stationed behind the bat.

Comparative Records Point To A Giant-Card Post Season Playoff

Chicago, Sept. 4 (AP)—Cold figures, based strictly on comparative records of club against club so far this season, today pointed to a post season playoff series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Giants for the National League pennant.

Over in the American League, they indicated that Mickey Cochrane's Detroit Bengals would win the pennant by a full nine game margin over the New York Yankees, who were exactly that far behind them today.

The abilities of the various contenders to win and lose games at home and abroad were not taken into consideration. Percentages of results to date only were used. For instance, the Cardinals and Pittsburgh have two games left against each other. To date, they have split even, each winning 10 for a .500 average. Thus, the figures say it's a victory apiece in the final two games. Against the Giants, the Cardinals have a winning percentage of only .389, which would indicate nothing better than an even break at most for the Cards in their final four games against Terry's men.

On the percentage basis, the Cardinals are hoped to win 16 and lose 12 of their remaining games against the other seven clubs for a final record of 95 victories and 59 defeats. The Giants, unless they fold up on the road, are expected to win 19 out of their remaining 39 for the same record, necessitating the first playoff series since the era of Fred Markle's "boner."

In the American League, on the same basis, Detroit would win 16 and lose 11 for a total of 99 victories and 55 losses; the Yankees would win 17 and lose for a final standing of 90 and 64.

The games left to be played by each contender follow:

By St. Louis: Giants, 4; Philadelphia, 5; Cubs, 5; Pittsburgh, 2; Brooklyn, 5; Boston, 4; Cincinnati, 3. Total left, 28.

By New York: Giants: Cubs, 4; Cards, 4; Philadelphia, 2; Pittsburgh, 4; Brooklyn, 5; Cincinnati, 4. Total left, 30.

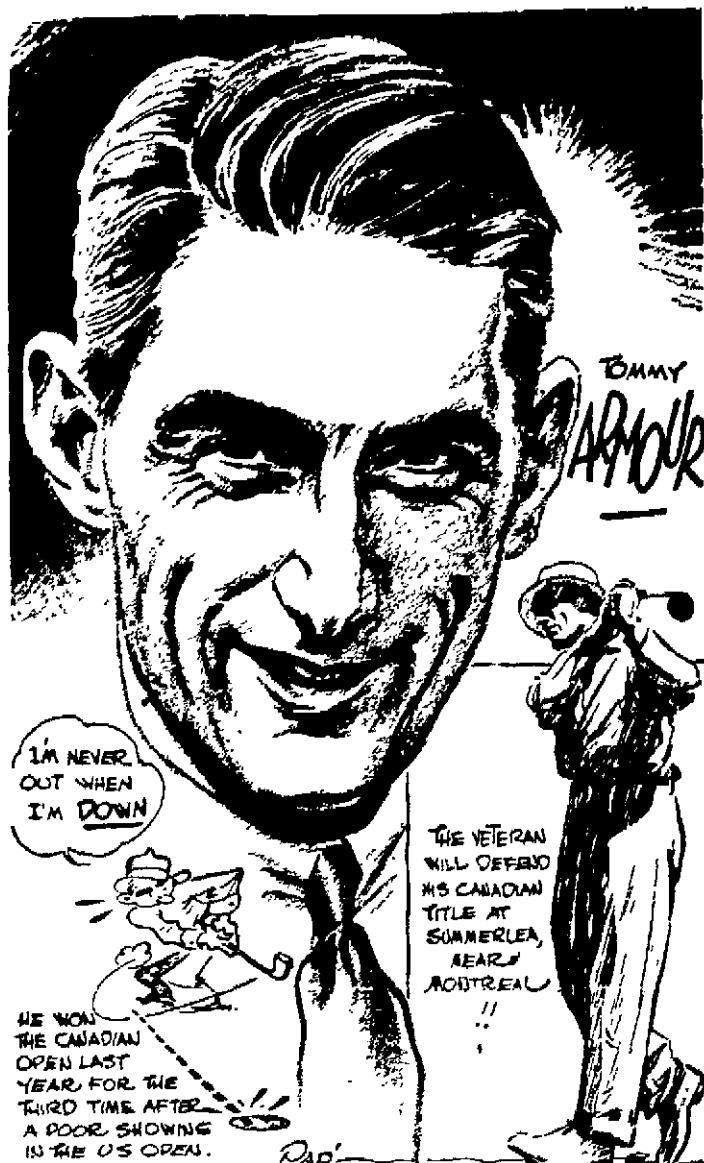

By Chicago: Cubs: Cards, 5; Giants, 4; Philadelphia, 4; Pittsburgh, 2; Brooklyn, 4; Boston, 4. Total left, 23.

By Pittsburgh: Cubs, 2; Giants, 4; Philadelphia, 4; Brooklyn, 3; Boston, 4; Cincinnati, 3; Cards, 2. Total left, 22.

By Detroit: New York, 5; Cleveland, 2; Boston, 4; Chicago, 4; Philadelphia, 5; Washington, 4; St. Louis, 3. Total left, 27.

By Yankees: Detroit, 5; Cleveland, 5; Boston, 6; Chicago, 4; Philadelphia, 2; Washington, 3; St. Louis, 1. Total left, 29.

Chichester-Senecas Will Play on Sunday

The Chichester baseball team and the Senecas will provide the feature sports event next Sunday at the first annual clambake of the Mt. Tremper-Mt. Pleasant Sports Association which will be held on the ball flats

Tickets for the bake are now being sold and the proceeds will be devoted to fish and game conservation work by the mountain association. Arrangements are being made to serve a large number of people either rain or shine.

100% The STANDINGS

By ANDRY CLARKE
Associated Press Sports Writer

Dolorous Bill Terry looked up at the black skies, felt the rain falling and bemoaned the turn of events that seemed to him to be dictated by a malicious fate.

The Giants, just one game behind the Cardinals on Labor Day, had hoped to sweep a doubleheader with the Phils while wishing ill luck to the Cards, who were engaged in a double bill with the Pirates.

The rain washed out the Giant games while the Cards bagged two and went two up on the New Yorkers in the League standing.

Rain caused postponement of the doubleheader again yesterday, and Terry and his men disconsolately packed their bags and set off for Cincinnati with some tough jousting ahead if they would fly the bunting at the end of the tourney.

They must battle on foreign fields and against worthy foes whereas the Cardinals draw some soft picking in their own ball yard.

The Cubs, only a half game behind the Giants, also will be entertaining at home. With the second division Phils, Braves and Dodgers scheduled to be their guests, they loom as a strong threat to bust right out in front of the present leaders. They are not listed to play a single doubleheader before they mix with the Giants in a four-game series.

The only bright spot in the coming drive, as far as the Giants are concerned, is that the season closes with the Cards and the Cubs in each other's hair, while the Giants will be engaging Brooklyn and the tail-end Braves.

With the Tigers drifting farther and farther away from the pack in the American League, the old cry of too great a concentration of power has been sounded again. It was the same cry that went up in the Ruthian heyday of the Yanks and it has brought about an early discussion of trades.

With the games rained out in all sectors yesterday, the dopests sat around and discussed possibilities. It is known that the Yanks intend to bolster their outfield and infield with new talent, Washington is preparing to sell or barter, and Tom Yawkey of the Red Sox has signified his intention of swapping gold for hitting power.

Connie Mack is reported ready to consider cash offers for Higgins and Fox while Mickey Cochrane may let Walker and Owen go. There are a host of other rumors in the wind.

Berardi's Reply to Forst's Challenge

The following letter was received at The Freeman Sports Department this morning:

Gentlemen: We are very sorry to say that we are unable to accept the Forst challenge as we are forced to close our season this coming Sunday.

The main reason for closing our season so early is because of football and college. Five of our men would be unable to play.

Next season we will gladly accept every challenge from all teams.

Signed,
JOHN BERARDI,
Manager, Berardi A. C.

Replacement Of Nine Lettermen Is Problem Facing Army Coaches

West Point, N. Y., Sept. 4—Replacement of nine lettermen from last year's Army football team is the problem confronting Lt. Garrison H. Davidson, head coach. The nine lettermen lost by graduation, included such backfield stars as Buckler, Stoncock and Simons and such outstanding linemen as Beall and Stillman, not to mention Miller, Edwards, Brearley and Martz as well. These losses include seven of last year's regulars, five of whom were linemen and two were backs.

To meet the problem of graduated regulars, the coaches are confronted with a difficult problem, due to the break in the succession to positions on the three varsity teams which has been a natural one for the past five or six years. A Cadet generally played on the third team his yearling year, the second his second class year and became a regular his final year.

This season the succession is broken as far as the line is concerned, for last year's third string line was decidedly below par and will not provide qualified men to go up to the second team as replacements for the regulars. This means that last year's plebs will be called upon to man the reserve line and serve as substitutes for the regulars.

Suitable replacement in the backfield is most difficult since the running back, Jack Buckler, and his substitute, Ozzie Simons, as well as the blocking back, Joe Stoncock, and his understudy, Bill Martz, receive their Second Lieutenant bars in June.

Since neither the third team nor the plebs produced a suitable fullback to fill Stoncock's place, the coaches plan to move True, second string wingback of last year, to that position as regular and to move Kimbrell, last year's third string center, and Kopsak, one of last year's second string plebs ends, over to fight it out for the second string fullback.

Even greater than the fullback problem is that of finding suitable replacements for Buckler and Simons. At the present time, there is no outstanding performer available. The four men who will contest for the position are Nazzaro, last year's fourth string quarter-back; Meyer, last year's third string triple threat; Spectrum of last year's plebe team and Craig, last year's second string plebe triple threat. Each of these four is fairly adept at one of the requirements of a triple threat back, but none possesses all three as Buckler and Simons did.

The line will consist of last year's reserves moving into the line vacancies with Captain Bill Shuler and Vincent, the returning regulars. In general, it appears at present that the Army will have a fairly good line with a questionable backfield. To have offensive strength, Davidson must uncover some ball carriers and blockers from willing but inexperienced material.

Grid Giants Are Out At U. S. C. This Year, Says Howard Jones

Los Angeles, Sept. 4 (AP)—Grid giants are out at the University of Southern California this year.

This was the emphatic announcement of Coach Howard Jones today as he pondered over the task of salvaging from the 1934 season's wreckage material for the coming season.

"We had too many men on the team last year," said Troy's head man sadly, "who couldn't handle their weight. If I wasn't convinced before, I am now, that size doesn't determine strength of a football player."

"Of course, a big man who can handle himself is all right but they are scarce, while we saw plenty of players weighing 175 to 180 pounds last year who could put a 200 pounder out of the play."

So the order has gone out from the Trojan grid battlements to reduce and the incoming reports are favorable to Coach Jones.

Troy's mentor plans no drastic changes in his football setup to bring his team back into its winning stride. He is going to give the line, which was so weak a year ago, concentrated personal attention, convinced that if the forwards function properly the offense and defense will pretty well take care of themselves.

"Open up the offense and throw laterals? Sure," he said. "If we can find players capable of handling them. But my team is not going to throw the ball around a lot because it is the popular thing to do and have the passes fall."

"Ambition on the part of the players is our element of hope. We are in a better position to have a good team than we were last year. We have no All-Americans. Nobody is sitting on a pedestal."

Yellow Jackets to Practice Sunday

At the meeting of the Reia Brothers' Yellow Jackets in Nick Radich's billiard parlor, Wall street, Tuesday night, uniforms were given to the players, and practice called for Sunday morning at Athletic Field. It will start at 9 o'clock.

Coach G. Warren Kise, of Kingston High School, who has been engaged to direct the destinies of the Jackets this season, will supervise the workout. He was in charge of the drill last Sunday, too, and put the Jackets through their paces most satisfactorily.

All those attending the practice are to report in uniform. Those who have not received their equipment yet will get it at the field. Every man who intends to play football with the club is urged to be at the workout on time. An invitation is extended to the general public.

Officers Elected at Meeting of Silver Palace Bowlers

At a meeting of the Silver Palace Bowling League at Emerick's Athletic Club last night, nine teams were represented and officers were elected. Ken Van Etten was re-elected president, Joe Huber, vice president, Charles Tiano, secretary, and Ray Garraghan, treasurer.

Another meeting will be held next Tuesday at 7:30, and a final meeting on Friday, September 13, at which time entries for the league will close.

It is planned this year to organize a league with 12 teams, six in each league. The better bowlers, to roll in the Gold Division and the less experienced men in the Silver group.

The following teams were represented at last night's meeting: Morhicans, Cornell Garage, Molok, Keystone Chevrolet, Jones, Dally, Keystone, Bull Market and Jacks Garage.

DODGERS AND DIERS A. S. WILL CLASH ON SUNDAY

One of the largest turnouts of fans to witness a downtown ball game this season, is expected at Block Park on Sunday when the Wilbur Dodger come to grips with the Diers All Stars.

The All Stars defeated the Dodger earlier in the season and since that time the Wilburites have been gunning for Diers' boys.

The feature of the game will be a player in the Diers' lineup, Kathryn Martin will probably play first base for the All Stars. Kathryn is a hard hitter and can field with the best of them. The entire lineup of both teams will be announced at a later date. The Diers will use their regulars, however, with the exception of Miss Martin.

SPORT SLANTS

Daily, in his training work out as a Speculator, N. Y., Max Baer gives a convincing demonstration that there is nothing wrong with his hands as he flails away at the heavy bag with all his might. To watch him bur his fists wrist-deep in the bag it is hard to believe that he seriously injured his hands a couple of months ago and the recent X-ray photos taken by the New York Athletic Commission's physicians tend to prove that the former champion's hands had suffered no serious break in the past year.

Baer's hands appeared slightly bruised, swollen and discolored in the dressing room immediately after he had been shorn of his title by Jim Braddock. But that hardly established his ability that their injury during the bout caused him to lose. Few heavyweights ever emerge from a bout without some visible signs to mark their punching efforts but the does not necessarily mean their hands have been injured seriously.

It was not Baer's injured hands that robbed him of his punching power against Braddock. More likely it was Jim's well-conceived battle plan of constantly circling Baer's left that enabled Braddock to absorb Baer's right hand punches without damage. Braddock was moving away with every punch Max tossed at him. Nothing takes the steam out of a punch as completely as a target moving in the same direction as the blow.

To all outward appearances Max is working harder than ever before to get into fighting shape for his meeting with Joe Louis. But underneath it all it is the same old Max Baer. His defeat has not changed him a bit. He is the same supremely confident, even egotistical Max that he always has been. Regardless of what he says, he is not taking Joe Louis any too seriously. He doesn't know how to take any opponent seriously.

He is far from convinced that Louis the killer the fight experts have painted him. Max points out that the Brown Bomber ran up a string of knock-out victories over a flock of fourth-rate fighters and then sprang to the high place he now occupies by stopping Primo Carnera and King Lerinsky, both of whom had been made ready by the cleaners by Baer's own cutting blows.

Max is Anxious
It was Max himself who insisted on a September bout with Louis even though he was not satisfied to his own mind that his hands would be in the best of shape. The reason No one but a Max Baer could stand it out in this manner. So long as Max's Louis' ring was that he was afraid to postpone the bout to a later date for fear someone would wound him to the trick of bleeding the Louis bubble. Max is a promoter that rights now the fight has the greatest rate-appearance in the fight business and the time is ripe for one of the biggest races in boxing years. The promise of a huge crowd prompted the former champion to turn at the opportunity of meeting Louis now in spite of the fact that his chances for success might be brighter after a longer period rest for his hands.

Max had an opportunity to meet Louis' acquaintance while he was champion and is satisfied that he managed to impress the bomber with such a war that he will enjoy a decided psychological advantage when he faces the Detroit Negro in the ring. Maybe so, but any advice would be that he had better go in with the time in the best possible shape and bring along with him a swiftness and ring knowledge he can master. He is quite likely to be a good back.

American Legion Campaign.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 4 (AP)—Edward N. Scherbeling, newly elected state commander of the American Legion, announced today a campaign to raise $750,000 so that the Tupper Lake camp for disabled veterans may be kept open all year will be launched October 1. The camp, for disabled veterans of the World War, is located on the Barber estate at Tupper Lake and at present remains open from May to October. The endowment fund of approximately $450,000 does not permit longer operation for any one year, Scherbeling said, and he wants the fund increased to $1,000,000.

Rumors reaching Albany to the effect that oysters may be scarce because of a short crop or poor conditions are entirely without foundation insofar as the New York State areas are concerned. There are reports of shortages in some places in New England but the New York State supply has never been better.

On The Radio Day By Day

(Time is Daylight Saving)

New York, Sept. 4 (AP)—The General Federation of Women's Clubs has announced that, through the courtesy of the National Broadcasting Company, the Federation will have a regular weekly period for a national broadcast beginning October 4.

There's a new dramatic serial on WGY from the pen of Frank Oliver, veteran radio player and playwright. Mr. Oliver has long believed that the life of the famous English highwayman Dick Turpin had the ingredients of an interesting radio drama and the present series, presented by the WGY Matinee Players is the result. The show may be heard every Tuesday at 5:30 p. m.

WGY is offering a fine non-sectarian religious program every morning except Sunday and Monday at 10 o'clock.

5th Anniversary of Mid-Hudson Bridge

The Mid-Hudson Bridge at Poughkeepsie has just registered another birthday. It is now five years of age, not a mature age in the life of bridges, yet old enough to indicate clearly and conclusively its purpose and to justify the reason and background for its construction. The stockholders of this bridge are, in a sense, the People of the State of New York. A brief statement from their Board of Directors, who, in this instance, are the New York State Bridge Authority serving without compensation and responsibility for the care, maintenance and operation of the bridge. Likewise, under their jurisdiction, is the new Rip Van Winkle Bridge to be opened at Catskill. During the past five years, the Mid-Hudson Bridge has served for a convenient, safe and speedy crossing of the Hudson river for about 2,350,000 vehicles, which makes an average of nearly one car a minute throughout the five years of its life. The best year is the one now closing, with about 550,000 vehicles, and the poorest year was the third year, with 406,000. Nearly one-third of the original cost of the bridge, amounting to $6,000,000, has been collected in tolls from its customers. This sum has more than equalled the interest and sinking fund requirements, and the stockholders should be pleased to learn that it is a business venture which has justified the confidence and vision of their representatives who conceived and built it.

Today's Cable Briefs By Associated Press

Guadalajara, Mexico — Agapito Hernandez, rebel chieftain who had been operating in the Lagos Moreno, Jalisco, region, surrendered today to federal troops. Twenty of his followers gave themselves up with him.

Mexico City—The war department announced today that the gunboat, Progreso, reported in press messages to have been overturned at Manzanillo during a windstorm, had arrived at Isla Margarita, lower California. Department officials said they believed the dispatches referred to a launch formerly used as a gunboat.

Calcutta—An earthquake shock of great intensity was recorded on the seismographs of the Alipore Observatory Sunday at 5:13 p. m. The epicenter was reported today by the observatory to have been in the vicinity of Lake Balkal, Siberia.

Oudtshoorn, Union of South Africa — Prime Minister J. B. M. Hertzog said today he believes the world is "beginning a long, and if we must judge from what has gone before, one of the bloodiest and cruellest periods it has ever known."

Castel Gandolfo, Italy—Prelates close to Pope Pius said today they believed the pontiff probably would convene a consistory during the first half of October. The consistory, they said, would be for the creation of cardinals, since their number in the sacred college has been greatly diminished by death. At present there are only 49 out of a possible total of 70.

Brussels — More than 1,800 wreaths had been delivered to the Laeken crypt of Queen Astrid of the Belgians today. Trucks were busy throughout the night conveying the flowers from the palace.

Tokyo—General Yoshituki Kawas-himu succeeded General Senjuro Hayashi as minister of war today. Hayashi resigned as an aftermath of the assassination of Lieut. Gen. Tetsuzan Nagata last August 12. Nagata had been virtual administrative head of the army and Hayashi's resignation was in conformity with the Japanese conception of responsibility.
